of the indoor season will take place Saturday.

The Western High School basket ball cam continued its brilliant winning treak yesterday by trouncing the leorgetown Preps by 45 to 9. The Red and White were so much superior to the Blue and Gray youngsters that the latter alled to score a point in the first half. Much credit must be given to Bryan lorse for the splended quint turned out t Western this season. Morse had two r three players of a year ago to begin with, but it must be remembered that he record made by Western this season is been very extraordinary. The team so won more than twenty games and has opped only three or four. Morse has veloped a five that for all-found team-ork and general play is more capable an any other in the District.

The basket ball game scheduled for its evening between the George Wash-aton University and Georgetown fints has been postponed until a later de. Poor condition of the Georgeown players is given as a reason for lling off the contest.

There will be a sprinter in the of the saturday.

The Catholic University basket ball team probably will meet the strongest opposition it has faced this season when the University of Virginia quint comes here tomorrow. The Orange and Blue has not yet lost a game, and if it can defeat the Brooklanders it will stand in direct line for the southern championship. In fact, C. U. is the real stumbling block in the way of the Charlottesville five, as the latter will be very likely to win from George Washington if it can defeat the Brooklanders.

Virginia has a much rangier aggregation of players than Catholic University, but the latter make up in aggressiveness what they lack in stature. And especially will they be favored by reason of playing on the Carroll Institute floor. In the contest at Virginia will make every endeavor to make a clean squint is not likely to cease its efforts to attain a high ranking.

Georgetown has several relay races scheduled for its meet which should be well contested. The most important event, despite the representation of local institutions, is that carded between the two mile teams of Yale and Princeton. Georgetown will meet the Lehigh four in the final race, Hopkins is to run against Washington and Lee, Catholic University will again test its mettle in competition with Lebanon

Catholic University will again test its mettle in competition with Lebanon Valley, and the Maryland Aggies are to appear against Gallaudet.

The race between Yale and Princeton is sure to be well run. In fact, no event in which these two quartets have ever figured here has failed to show a splendid finish. Everybody that attended the Georgetown games of the past two seasons will remember the reat races Princeton and Yale have up, and another such contest may be looked for this time. Georgetown is likely to have a hard time winning is likely to have a hard time winning.

reat races Princeton and Yale have out up, and another such contest may be looked for this time. Georgetown is likely to have a hard time winning from the Lehigh four, though the Blue and Gray is banking on taking the event. Lehigh has a faster team than usual and it may be lucky enough to defeat the local schools.

Catholic University won from Lebanon Valley at Baltimore, and is likely to be victor again. Hopkins and Washington and Lee are booked to appear in a dual event, while the Maryland Aggies and Gallaudet are to run a special mile. The Hopkins-Washington and Lee race is likely to be close, while that between M. A. C. and Gallaudet ought to be well run. Gallaudet's team won from the farmers last year at Pennsylvania, but he katter are showing sufficient improvement to make the race close.

The Western High School basket ball team probably will meet the strongest opposition it has faced this season
